

NEWSLETTER: NOVEMBER 2010

TIME TO START THINKING ABOUT WINTERIZING YOUR BIKE

Yes, it's hard to believe, but winter is right around the corner. The best technique or tip we can give Noble Eagle brothers for the easiest way of getting your bike ready for winter is as follows: Call Plug, Butter, or Coach. Tell them you would like them to show you the things that need to be done to get your bike ready for cold weather. One of these idiots will come to your house and do all the work for you! Works like a charm!

EAGLES NEST

Sometimes we tend to take things for granted. We are a fortunate group to have a place like the "Nest". For some, it's been a home away from home (hell, for some, it's become a home!). For others, it's a place just to stop in once in a while, have a brew, and visit with brothers. Regardless of how it's used, our thanks go out to those members who take care of it. Trying to name everyone who pitches in at the Nest would surely result in leaving someone out, but a special thanks to Roho and Hubcap for all they do! Remember, the "Nest" is only what we, as members, make it. Hell, name one other place you can dine on such delicacies as buffalo, fried bologna, and spam! Come out, visit the Nest, join your brothers!

FIRST FRIDAY

Probably by the time you read this, November's "First Friday" will be history. Hubcap sponsored our first ever "SPAMFEST". Boy, there is nothing like the smell of spam being fried! Rumor has it that for December's "First Friday", grilled reindeer might be on the menu! We see a trend developing here....just imagine: smoked groundhog in February!

HALFWAY HAS FLASHBACK

Not too long ago, our very own Halfway was visiting with a couple about the recent Bikefest. According to the couple, they had been talking to another Noble Eagle who also attended the festivities and were told of a member who wrapped his head in aluminum foil with a large foil spike sticking up at the top. This member was seen sitting outside at a picnic table at the campground during a violent lightning and thunder storm looking up at the sky and yelling "I dare you to take me!". As Halfway was told this story, he informed the couple "I was there all night and never saw anything like that happen". The more Halfway thought about it, it came to him....."Hell, that was me" Halfway remembered.

POSSIBLE UPCOMING EVENTS

TUNICA: Digit is wanting to go! At this point, November looks like the month, and probably will be a drive, not a ride. If you are interested, let Digit know.

DAYTONA: Talk is in the air for a return trip to Florida in March (sometime between March 4-13) for Bike Week. If a group goes, plans need to be made soon as a place to stay needs to be booked! Contact person will be G-Money. Let him know if you are willing to take a trip on the wild side! Don't pass up the opportunity to hear Barndog sing "I'm a Cowboy"! If you have not been to Bike Week, it's a blast!

COMMENTARY (views do not necessarily represent those of the Noble Eagles)

What is happening to our world? With the increased use of "sobriety check points", law enforcement agencies have basically taken all of the fun out of drinking and riding. Not only do these limit a person from going out and getting shit-faced and hopping on a bike, but what about all the brothers with warrants? The more times you are stopped, the greater the chance your ass is going to be hauled off to jail because you decided to put more chrome on your bike instead of paying your ex-old lady her "blood money".

To top things off, what is up with these new strip club laws? No lap dances, no grabbing the girls since they must stay 6 feet away, no alcohol, and close at midnight? Come on, how do they expect us to have foreplay before we have to go home and climb in bed with the old lady? Hell, any more you can see more skin and have more fun with your stepsister!
